Tamara Weiss to join Helaba's Executive Board

Helaba's Supervisory Board has appointed Tamara Weiss (47) as a member of the Executive Board.

Helaba's Supervisory Board has appointed Tamara Weiss (47) as a member of the Executive Board. The decision is subject to approval by the German and European banking supervisory authorities. It is intended that Tamara Weiss will succeed Dr. Detlef Hosemann as Chief Risk Officer (CRO). As previously announced in April, Dr. Hosemann is stepping down from the Executive Board at his own request as of 30 November 2023 in order to pursue other professional challenges.

Tamara Weiss has been working for LBBW since 2000, most recently as Head of Risk Management for CRE, Project & Transport Finance. Prior to that, she headed up the bank's Credit Risk Controlling and Processes division for six years. Having gained a degree in business administration, she started her career at Volksbank Backnang before joining LBBW in 2000.

Stefan G. Reuß, Chairman of Helaba's Supervisory Board, expressed his delight at the new appointment to Helaba's Executive Board: "Tamara Weiss has more than 20 years of experience in risk controlling and credit management and we are delighted to have been able to secure her appointment. We are confident that, with Ms Weiss as CRO, we will be able to successfully develop our proven conservative risk profile in the future."
